Forecast for Saturday 21 Aug 2021

Weather: Thick low cloud and misty, drizzly conditions through the early hours. Spells of heavy rain will spread from the south through morning and for much of the afternoon with an increasing risk of thunderstorms. Some torrential downpours look likely along with some drier, brighter periods. Generally trending drier through evening although rain likely never far away.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 700m: Very little chance.

Visibility: Cloud will be generally extensive above around 500m, perhaps lower through morning, this giving widely very poor visibilty across the hills. Heavy, perhaps torrential rain will bring limit visibility to a kilometer or two.
